What Is One to Believe?

This has no reference to "fundamentalism," religious or political differences, but just the common every day garden variety of subjects on which columns are printed, often on the same page and which advise or seek to instill entirely different views. We read that the automobile is a great benefit to the race, as it takes people out in the fresh air, then comes another medical sharp who tells us that the automobile is killing the race, as it keeps us from walking. Another fellow says that the music of today is degenerating and ruining young life on account of the irregularity of the tempo of "jazz," and right next we read that the lively syncopation shakes us up, and jostles us out of the hum drum monotony of sound, and is the best thing ever evoked from a cat's intestines or the mournful saxophone. Now which shall we believe? Half of the conversations are begun with "I read in the paper—etc. and so on," and a long lot of drivel and rot follows. We remember away back in the reportorial days when a hundred or more of us night workers used to midnight lunch at Billy Boyle's, and when any of the fellows got a severe stomach ache he would consult a physician, who was nationally known as an expert in such matters, and his invariable comment was, "You are eating too much, my dear boy, don't eat after midnight, you are overloading your stomach" and every night about 1 G. M. this same jolly old pill roller, used to drop into Billy's and order a big juicy steak, with a table filled with side dishes, begin with a cock tail (censored) and wind up with a bottle of heavy wine (also censored), and yet we attended that old chap's funeral when he was registered at 94 years young. Which all just goes to prove that every one is chuck full of advice to the other fellow but teaches, "Do as I say, not as I do." If one were to follow all the advice of the alleged medical advisers, and swallow half of the nostrums some prescribe, he would be a walking drug store or a corpse. Moral: Do as you darn please and take good care of yourself sensibly.

The Ones Who Attend to their Neighbors' Business

You can generally tell them by the way they neglect their own. If it is a merchant you will find his display windows dirty and ununkempt, and his entire place of business in a chaotic condition. If it is a housewife, the floors are unswept, the front porch covered with last year's debris, and the windows patched or so dirty they may not be transparent. Criticism of another's manners of conducting his or her business, is the sure sign of a person who does not take the time to conduct their own properly, and generally grows out of a feeling of envy or pure cussedness. Many a man has made his fortune by attending strictly to his own affairs, but we have yet to learn of one who ever prospered by knocking his neighbors. We may not admire another's way of conducting himself, or the color of his wife's hair: we may suggest how much better we could arrange all of these things, and the chances are that our own business will occupy so little of our time, that we can devote a full day to it, and you can safely wager that your criticism has not only accomplished no good, but has made you many enemies. The little man with the big hammer always hits himself and it seems that one who attends strictly to their own affairs has about all he can do, and makes life more enjoyable for himself and every one with whom he comes in contact.

Something Must Be Done to Preserve the Paving

At no time within many years has the boulevards and paved streets been in such bad condition in certain localities. The ruts and holes have grown to such depth and dimensions that it is positively dangerous to drive on many of them, noticeably Marquette rd. and Normal blvd. A front wheel striking one of these ruts, twists the steering wheel from even strong drivers, an many wrecks happen thereby. The repairing we have noticed since spring is merely temporary and filling up the holes with asphalt and sand is a makeshift that is neither economical or permanent. It has been demonstrated that nothing but the best of cement and concrete with a solid foundation will withstand the heavy busses which run on heavy truck chassis with solid tires. Besides the busses the streets are traveled by many coal and material trucks, which run half a block at least on the boulevards to reach their destination. This matter might as well be settled now as any time and stop the waste of temporary repairing.

Miss Christine Marker, 6417 Harvard ave., was run down in front of her home Saturday morning by a Ford sedan, injuring her hip and arm. She is convalescing in St. Bernard's hospital.

Our Weekly Poem

A PLEA FOR POPPY DAY

By James D. Campbell, in New York Times

Oh, cherish the flag with the stars of blue
And its wonderful stars of gold.
They stand for the men who stood for you;
When a gold star fell a star of blue
Filled up the breach till their work was through.
The story should never grow old.

Oh, cherish the flag with the stars of blue
And the pitiful stars of gold.
The gold ones gave and they gave and gave,
And all that a man could give they gave,
These stars shine down on a martyr's grave.
And your grief must never grow cold.

Oh, cherish the flag with the stars of gold
And the myriad stars of blue.
Those stars of blue who were there to give;
Their very lives they offered to give
So all that you hold dear might live.
Yes, if need be, to die for you.

And our hearts can add yet another star,
One that's stained with a blood-like red.
It stands for the blind and the crippled lads
Who were fighting there in your stead.
They took the wounds and the bullets
And the suffering all for you.
Oh, cherish the flag with its stars of gold
And its stars of red and blue.

He Is a Murderer Just the Same

Although the driver of the car that caused the accident at 63rd st. and Wentworth ave. and killed Anna May McCarthy, whose death we chronicled last week, and severely injured her sister, Eileen, both of 7221 Princeton ave., has succeeded in concealing his crime from the police and the public, he will not escape from his conscience. Although the impact of his car with the taxi cab, in which the girls were passengers, was wrenched from it, no trace has been found and the best efforts of the police seems futile. The girls were favorites in Hamilton Park and Anna May's funeral occurred from St. Carthage church last Saturday. The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Florence McCarthy, are heart broken and receiving the sincere condolences of their many friends.

Flaming Passion at the E. A. R. Theatre

Today and tomorrow, Friday and Saturday, May 9 and 10, the E. A. R. will offer extraordinary attractions in the great play of "Flaming Passions" from the great story of "Lucretia Lombard." The cast is led by that supreme favorite Monte Blue ably assisted by Irene Rich, Marc McDermott, and Alex Francis. This play was the talk of the town for the many questions it raised, as a supreme passion and stirring tragedy, showing humanity at its worst in a glowing love tale wherein the hero goes through fire and flood literally to rescue another woman. The heroine married to a roue, young and beautiful, her life is a dull, drab affair yet, faithfully she serves her stricken, dissolute husband until fate brings "the man." It is a graphic scenic production with thrills and situations that awaken at every minute of the screening. In addition on Friday (today) will be shown "The Telephone Girl" No. 4 and Fox's News and it will also be "dividend night." Saturday matinee comes also the latest episode in "Leather Stockings," the great historial Indian legend. This bill cannot be surpassed by any house and the patrons of the E. A. R. should all arrange to enjoy the treat.

Mothers' Day at Drexel Park Church

Drexel Park church, 64th and Marshfield ave., has arranged a very wonderful mothers' day program. The choir will give two special numbers. The soloists will be Mr. Ray Greiner and Miss Louise Kuglin. The Drexel quartette will also sing. Rev. Cox will speak. These services are at 11 a. m. and 8 p. m. A large floral offering will be received for honor and in memory of mother, and also a christening service for children. The services will not be sad or depressing, and every lover of mother is invited to attend. Each mother at the evening service will receive either a rose or a mother's booklet.

Miss Loesser had been a very patient sufferer for years, the last three years being confined most of the time to her bed. She was a beautiful character of service. At the death of her mother she accepted and carried on the household duties of the family circle.

The services and floral offerings were impressive tributes to one who had sacrificed, served and suffered.

Engagement of Ruth Hunter Announced

There seems to be no time more fitting or more bewitching than that popular hour of 9 o'clock, when all gatherings commence to swing forth and Saturday, May 3, 1924, about thirty assembled at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest L. Hunter, 6544 Normal blvd., where bunco was played during the evening, with many outbursts of joy and enthusiasm.

About 11 o'clock the young people were invited into the dining room where a most delightful supper was served. The guests were called upon to find their respective places at the table, which were determined by very kittenish looking cards bearing the name of each guest, beside which was a pretty little gray and white striped cat tied in a large paper bag with a handsome pink satin bow, which after being untied, disclosed a great secret, the announcement of the engagement of Miss Ruth Hunter to Mr. Charles R. Zollinger.

The table was beautifully decorated in pink and white, wild roses and sweet peas predominating. The center of the table held a large Maypole of pink ribbons and rosebuds, and the girls dancing around were costumed in pink and green representations of roses—symbols of spring.

None could be more surprised than were the many friends of the young couple, when they learned the romantic little story of the cat and the bag, as told by the untying of the pink satin bok adorning the soft furry necks of the cats, as well as the ruffled top of the paper bag.

Many pretty prizes were given to the holders of the highest scores in bunco, and after enjoying many dances to very good music, the guests departed with lots of food for thought, and left the happy couple with many good wishes and joyous thoughts.

Stratford Theatre Offers Two Great Attractions for Coming Week

The Stratford theater offers an unusual series of attractions for the coming week. Beginning Sunday, May 11, they will present the most unique and novel photoplay ever presented. It is different in theme, plot, style and direction and you will find concentrated entertainment, diversion, amusement and mental stimulus in its lines. The story is short and snappy of married flirts and entitled, "The Marriage Circle" and carries an all star cast of Florence Vidor, Marie Provost, Monte Blue, Adolphe Menjou, Creighton Hale and Ernest Lubitch. It is on for four days only closing Wednesday.

On Thursday the Stratford will open with a glorious burst of sunshine, "The Dawn of a Tomorrow," a George Melford production which goes without saying, is a good one. It features Jacqueline Logan, David Torrance and Raymond Griffith and is a successful picturization of the popular novel of the same name. This bright, cheerful story has Pollyanna backed off the map, and is the cat's whiskers in optimism, and will make a thunderstorm seem a ray of sunshine. Don't miss it. With both of these attractions there will also be a beautiful presentation and the best of Prof. Sternberg's musical programs and Prof. Fitch presiding at the big organ. The highest class amusement and entertainment at reasonable prices; don't miss either of them. Next week comes the king of the bunch, Tom Meighan, in "The Confidence Man," which gives the versatile Tom an opportunity of showing his real histrionic powers. Get the habit of going to the Stratford for good shows.

Fire-Chief Kenyon Retires

Everyone in Englewood, or, in fact, in the south part of the city, knows Joseph L. Kenyon, the veteran fire fighter, who for several decades has held the title of fire marshal and chief of the Englewood Battalion of the Chicago Fire department. Most of us know him as "Joe," and a thousand firemen know him as "Chief," and to everyone of them he is known as the bravest, most competent and faithful of smoke eaters. Well, today he is just simple Civilian Joseph Kenyon, as his resignation from the fire department has been accepted, and the gallant old fire fighter is on the retired list.

He was born in the Bronx, New York, February 9, 1856, and when an infant two months old was brought by his parents to Chicago, and his home has been here ever since. Even when a small boy his ambition was to be a good fireman, same as his brother, David, who made a wonderful record by his long service and finally gave up his life while on duty. It was "Dave" Kenyon who invented the sliding pole in use in all the departments in the world. While his men were helping unload a load of hay, an alarm was sounded and several of them slid down the binding pole on the hay wagon, and this created the idea and the practical captain soon made a pole which he erected in the old No. 1's house at 12th and Taylor sts. A piece of this same pole is cherished as a relic by Marshal Kenyon in his home now. Later the wooden pole gave way to an iron one, and this to the polished brass poles now in general use.

Joe Kenyon finally won his ambition and on March 22nd, 1879, was taken on as a probationary fireman. He served as a truckman, pipeman and pompier ladder man, in fact he was the first man who ever mounted the aerial truck that shot a ladder up 105 feet, with a man on the top. He made a brilliant record in all the big fires in the city in the early days, and December, 1892, was sent to Englewood to succeed Fire Marshal Ed Murphy, who was given charge of the World's Fair department. Every blaze since that time has been a milestone in Joe Kenyon's successful career. His gallant service at the time of the Storage Warehouse fire on the World's Fair grounds in 1893 saved many lives and his work was commended on every side. This was repeated at the Stock Yards fire where Chief Horan and his men surrendered their lives; also at the well remembered fire in the Byrne apartments, where fifty families were rescued by Fire Marshal Kenyon and his men, and we might repeat a dozen more conflagrations that were signalized by his splendid service.

When he first took charge of the Englewood battalion, he covered a territory reaching from 55th st., Garfield blvd., south to the Indiana state line and west to the canal, embracing nearly thirty-nine square miles. Fire boxes were few and far between and it required three horses at his headquarters at 64th st. and Wentworth ave. in the work of drawing his buggy to every alarm. It was under his supervision the department was extended, and finally motorized and made the perfect organization it is today. He served forty-four years and eight months in actual work, a wonderful record, exceeded by no man in the department. For the past year he has suffered from a strained knee, the last of the many serious injuries he sustained in the line of duty, and has been confined to his pretty home at 6616 Perry ave.

It is with a feeling of sadness that the older firemen and "fans" bid farewell to Joe Kenyon. The writer remembers him as a daring pompier ladderman when he was a cub reporter, and is proud to say that from that day on they have been fast and firm friends. Many of Chief Kenyon's old friends call upon him at his home, and his interesting stories and reminiscences are the real history of the Chicago fire department. We all hope Joe will live long to enjoy his well earned laurels and Englewood will be ever proud of him and his brave achievements.

Death of M. M. Martin

Mr. M. M. Martin, formerly of Bureau county, died at his home, the Chicago Beach hotel, April 17. He lived at 630 64th st. for twenty-eight years, and moved to the hotel after the death of his wife in 1923.

Mr. Martin was born in Warren county, New Jersey, February 10, 1836. His parents, Henry and Mary A., were both natives of Warren county, New Jersey. His grandfather, James Martin, was a Revolutionary war soldier. He moved with his parents in 1856 from New Jersey to Illinois and settled on a farm in Selby township. He engaged in farming in Bureau county until he retired and moved to Chicago in 1895, with the exception of a period spent in Kansas during the exciting struggle between the Pro-Slavery and Free Soil factions.

He was married to Marie L. Hall June 13, 1867, and for a time they lived on a farm near Malden and later moved to the farm on which the Shabona school is located, where they remained as long as they continued farming. Mr. Martin was very energetic and devoted himself largely to raising stock, at which he was very successful, and from time to time they purchased additional tracts of land. All of this land is still in the family with the exception of the farm now owned by W. E. Hubbard and the old Henry Martin homestead which they sold in 1920.

Integrity, industry and sociability were predominant in Mr. Martin and won for him a large circle of acquaintances, all of whom loved and respected him.

The funeral sermon was preached by the Rev. R. A. White of the People's Liberal church, after which Masonic services were conducted through the courtesy of Princeton lodge No. 587, A. F. & A. M., and by Mystic Star lodge No. 758, A. F. & A. M. His body was placed in the vault at Mount Hope cemetery with that of his wife, who died in April, 1923, pending the completion of a mausoleum which is being built. He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. R. W. Burnett and Mrs. S. Rosenthal, both of Chicago, and a sister, Mrs. Harrison Strong, of Vinton, Iowa.

Mr. Martin and his wife were members of the Methodist Episcopal church of Malden while residing in Bureau county. He was a member of Princeton lodge No. 587, A. F. & A. M., having been a Mason since 1863, also of Princeton chapter No. 28, R. A. M.

Englewood Commercial Association After The Beggars

At the fortnightly luncheon of the Englewood Commercial and Civic association held at Geo. B. Dow's headquarters Wednesday, Vice-president Abe Mindes presided in the absence of President Penhallegon. After a vigorous discussion of the dogs down to the last collar, the subject of better lighting of the subways under the railroads was brought up, and another effort will be made to have it improved. The killing of a young lady at the 63rd st. and Wentworth ave. crossing caused more agitation concerning the permanent location of a traffic cop at this point. The necessity of guardians at the Stewart and Princeton ave. crossings was again brought up and an effort will be made to have a detail from the High School R. O. T. C. act at the assembling and dismissal of school. The matter of fake street beggars was threshed out and all members and other citizens requested to turn the marble heart and heavy hand toward the unauthorized solicitors, beggars and peddlers. A committee composed of Paul F. Lods and G. E. Sullivan were authorized to draft suitable resolutions on the death of our former president, C. Frank Berg, send a copy to the bereaved widow and have a copy spread on the records of the association. Sime Koehler brought the cheerful intelligence that the pickaxe of the wreckers was busy on the old ruins at 220 to 226 63rd st. to make way for the handsome new building Dr. Weir is to erect on that splendid location. The next meeting will be held May 21st.

M. E. Church Concert

The annual concert by the choir of the Englewood First Methodist church, 64th st. and Stewart ave., will be given on Tuesday evening, May 20. Special numbers on the program will be readings and recitations by Wallace Bruce Amsbary, well known on Chatauqua platforms, and organ numbers by Victor R. Marburger, organist.

Windows of the Switchboard

A SIGNAL shows on the switchboard, a telephone number is asked for, and a wire highway is created over which two persons may send their words and thoughts, one to the other.

Over forty million times a day these messages pass over the wires of the Bell System, to transact negotiations between buyer and seller, to keep homes and hearts united, to summon aid or protection in emergencies.

To find the worth of this service would mean to look into nearly every home and office, nearly every shop and factory, in America, to watch how the nation's habits of life are geared to the power of communication.

The telephone operator cannot follow her work to its results, but she can appreciate its importance. In her keeping is part of a great mechanism of nation-wide inter-communication, but those whom she serves and the benefits of her service remain unknown. Each summons for her coöperation is of equal urgency, for each helps to further the progress of the community and the nation.

Those interested in learning to make wicker furniture for the home are invited to join the basketry club which meets in the Field house on Monday evenings at 8 o'clock. For further particulars call at the park director's desk.

The assembly hall was packed to the limit at the meeting held under the auspices of the Fathers' club of Harvard school last week. Mr. Spain, assistant superintendent of the Detroit schools, who had been announced as the speaker in favor of the platoon system, was unable to be present. Mr. Bender of the Daily News, who has been watching the working of the platoon system in many city schools and has written many articles in favor of the plan, spoke in his place. Miss Margaret Haley spoke at length against the system. No vote was taken, but those present seemed to be largely in favor of retaining the system now in use in our schools. Interest in the discussion was not confined to the city, as three people in the audience had driven ninety miles from a town in Michigan.

Let's Get This Straight

In the campaign now going on to prevent undue increases in rents from some of the flats and stores, we are sometimes told by landlords that their taxes were increased and consequently it has been necessary to raise rentals.

Now let's get this straight. If a landlord, receiving just a reasonable rent, has to pay higher taxes during the coming year and cannot, therefore, receive a fair return on his investment, we will not complain about an increase in his rental charge sufficient to cover the increase in taxes.

What we do object to is an increase of from $500 to $1,500 more per year in rents when a landlord's taxes are increased only $100 or $200 per year. Such an increase in rents is exhorbitant and such a landlord thereby brands himself as a nuisance in his community. Again we say, let's get matters straight. Let the landlord play fair and we won't complain.

The three plays given by the Hamilton Park players Tuesday night in the fieldhouse were enjoyed by a large and enthusiastic audience.

The dainty colonial maid and the modern girl made a charming contrast in "The Witching Hour," while nature itself helped out the thrilling climax of the ghost story, with thunder and lightning.

Mrs. Pat and the Law revealed, with realistic fidelity, the poor Irish family with its ups and downs, lightened by easy good nature.

SULLIVAN'S SENSE AND NONSENSE

MY MOTHER

A painter great
Could paint your face.
And show to all
Your inward grace.
But in my heart
It hangs all framed
With every grace
That God has named.
My Mother

People who do nothing are very apt to worry about what they will do next.

If a man does find marriage a failure he can still put it all in his wife's name.

Small indeed is the soul that cannot recall today the greatness of their mother's love. God bless them all.

Funny to read a merchant's advertisement in the paper and see in the front of his place of business. "No Parking Here."

This is the season of the year when anyone may be excused for being just plain lazy. It is the surest symptom of spring fever.

Sometimes a woman is almost as sorry that she married a certain man, as she is glad that she kept some other woman from getting him.

While the city council and park boards are naming the streets and boulevards will they please name one "Safety" where no one may be slaughtered.

An Englewood young man was out west this summer, and made a decided "crush" on a wealthy rancher's daughter, and they were soon engaged. In showing him her father's immense possessions, she said "Papa owns all the land as far as the eye can reach" and the thoughful lover solicitously replied, "I do hope you are not short sighted."

Casey tells of how he killed one chance he had of being engaged. He asked the lady fair and she refused. "So you insist upon refusing me?" he asked. "Most decidedly I do; what do you take me for?" was the chilly answer. "Well, Oi take ye for about forty-two, ond am willin' to mek it fer bether or warse, but if ye say no, let it go at that," and she did.

A bishop in full robes of office, with his gown reaching to his feet, was teaching a Sunday school class in Englewood recently and at the close he said he would be glad to answer any question. "Can I ask?" said a little boy, raising his hand. "Certainly," said the bishop; "what is it?" "Is dem all you've got on, or do you wear pants under them?"

"Here's your horse," said the cavalry instructor as he gave the bridle to a young raw recruit.

"Thanks," said the recruit as he examined his mount. Then, seeing the saddle girth, he asked: "Just what's it got that strap around its waist for?"

"Oh, that?" answered the instructor. "Well, you see, cavalry horses have a distinct sense of humor. They like to laugh, and sometimes, when there are recruits around, we have to put on those straps to keep 'em from bustin' their sides."

Kiwanians Mourn for Frank Berg

At the regular meeting of the Englewood Kiwanis club Tuesday noon the program was turned over to Dr. Richard D. Hughes, and a memorial service was held for Frank C. Berg, who died last Friday and was buried Monday. After the preliminary business, President Tegtmeier called Dr. Hughes to the chair.

The entire membership, again 100 per cent, under the direction of Prof. Robert Stronach and led by the superb voice of Mrs. Frances Benson, sang "Nearer My God to Thee." This was followed by a solo from Mrs. Benson, after an introductory talk by Dr. Hughes, who spoke of the author of the hymn, Cardinal Newman, and the circumstances under which it was written, and in silence and sympathy the club listened to the sweet and impressive strains of "Lead Kindly Light." A brief obituary of the deceased was read by Gerald E. Sullivan, which appears in another part of this paper, and was ordered engrossed on the records of the club. Mrs. Benson favored with the hymn, "One Sweetly Solemn Thought," and Dr. Hughes delivered one of the most masterly and sympathetic addresses it has ever been our lot to hear. Mr. Berg was the first member of the Englewood Kiwanis club to be called above, and the eloquent speaker referred to the ties that bind us together, and the sorrow of the members in losing Mr. Berg, whose cordiality and geniality had made him a general favorite. Mrs. Benson then sang with wondrous feeling "Oh, Dry Those Tears" and the meeting closed with the usual Kiwanian form of all standing facing the Flag and singing "America." The love and affection in which Frank was held by the Kiwanians was shown by the reverence and attention given by all to the beautiful program, and the words of Dr. Hughes will long be remembered as an inspiration to the members.

Charles Francis Berg Passes

Charles Francis Berg, better known to his many friends as "Frank" Berg, died Friday evening, May 2nd, at St. Bernard's hospital after undergoing an operation for appendicitis. His funeral occurred Monday morning from St. Bernard's church, and interment was in the family plot at Mount Olivet cemetery.

Frank Berg was born thirty years ago at 6118 Yale ave., just two doors from where his body lay in state after his death. He was the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Berg, pioneer residents of Englewood. He was educated in the Lewis-Champlin and Englewood high schools and afterwards took a course at the Chicago university. He ranked well in his studies and excelled in all athletics.

LIEUT. C. FRANK BERG

As soon as the president declared war on Germany, Frank sold his interest in the business of Bowen & Berg and enlisted in the army, choosing the aviation division as his field of usefulness. He entered into a course of training in the aviation fields and served until the close of the war, and was on board of a transport bound for France when the armistice was signed.

Returning home at the conclusion of hostilities, he entered into the men's furnishing business at the same location of his old firm and remained there until a few months ago, when increasing business led him to move to a larger room at 336 W. 63rd st., where he was located up to the time of his fatal illness.

He was married two years ago to Miss Betty Mason, a charming young lady, who with his sisters, Miss Ella Berg, Mrs. James Downing, Mrs. J. C. Luke, Jr., and Mrs. Albert Vinnedge, survive him.

He was a prominent member of Englewood Council Knights of Columbus, was the retiring president of the Englewood Commercial and Civic association and of the Englewood Kiwanis club, as well as the American Legion, all of which organizations were represented at his funeral.

Frank Berg was a splendid representative of the ideal young American. He volunteered his services to his country when needed and rose to the rank of lieutenant in the Aviation corps, and when he was no longer needed returned to a civilian life of usefulness. He was a clean cut young man, honest, industrious, courteous, and devoted to his family and his home. Few young men stood as high in the opinion of his fellow men as Frank Berg. He was a genial, sociable companion, a sterling true friend and unostentatious to a marked degree.

The sympathy of the entire community goes out to his bereaved wife and sisters and his many friends and associates will long mourn his untimely demise.

Pastor of St. Carthage Parish Called Higher

Father Daniel H. Riorden, pastor of St. Carthage church at 73rd st. and Yale ave., died at his home Monday evening after an illness of several weeks. His funeral occurred Thursday morning from the church he had built, and the remains were interred at Holy Sepulchre cemetery.

Father Riorden organized this parish six years ago, and has lived only long enough to see it well established in a beautiful church, with fine parochial schools, but the rest of his planning for a high school and further improvements is left to his successor. He was a most capable man, an excellent priest, kind, considerate and charitable to a marked degree, and had the respect and esteem not only of his own congregation, but the entire neighborhood irrespective of creed or belief. May his soul rest in peace.

Rainbow Gets Ice Cream to the Kiddies

The drivers of the ice cream delivery cars went on strike last week and it looked bad for the kiddies, who suffered upon being deprived of their cherished delicacy. The thirty-one companies of the city stopped manufacture and delivery, but the Rainbow Ice Cream Co., 809-11 W. 58th st., appreciating the kind patronage the little folks had always given the pure product of their company, W. H. McCoy, the president and general manager, signed the contract scale of the union and are the only ones now delivering ice cream under the new conditions.

They appreciated the fact that the "high cost of living" affected the drivers, and more, they appreciated the loyalty of their patrons, and determined to give them regular service, even if at increased cost to the company. They are delivering now as formerly and warrant to their large trade good service of good ice cream to all customers of the Rainbow.
